A passionate and detail-oriented software developer with strong knowledge and interest in full-stack development using the MERN stack (MongoDB, Express.js, React.js, Node.js), with a focus on React for building dynamic user interfaces. While still gaining practical experience, I have worked on personal, academic projects and as an intern that have helped me develop a solid understanding of web development. I am eager to contribute and grow as a MERN stack developer, honing my skills in React and backend technologies to deliver meaningful software solutions.
